Cronica maiorum et vicecomitum Londoniarum

Christian ethics is a wide and varied field; so diverse are the methods and approaches, theological perspectives and starting points, and scopes of inquiry and purposes—dare we even call it a discipline?—that the field is rarely considered as a whole. Christian ethics includes historical, descriptive, critical, constructive, and applied projects on countless topics. Lending creative energy to this field of study are a range of partner disciplines, including, most prominently, theology, philosophy, and sociology, each containing multiple schools themselves. To envision the entire field of Christian ethics is a difficult task; to reenvision the entire field may perhaps be impossible for one person. Thus, this publication includes original research by multiple scholars, each offering a distinct perspective from their primary partner discipline. Chapters include Roman Catholic and Protestant voices from Europe, Asia, and North America. In aggregate, these writings contribute to a composite reenvisioning of Christian ethics, refracting our collective vision through the prisms of diverse academic and methodological perspectives in this vast field of inquiry, study, and practice.

Connecting Ecologies focuses on the environmental aspects of Pope Francis' encyclical Laudato Si' and the challenge to care for our common home. It considers how best to devise and implement the new societal models needed to tackle the ecological problems facing the world today. The book addresses the need for and complexity of an integral ecology, one that looks not only at physical and biological processes but also allows for the contributions of theology, philosophy, spirituality, and psychology, including the implications for the human and social sciences. The contributions document four categories of resonances, resources, requirements, and responses evoked by a reading of Laudato Si' and include consideration of other faith traditions. They reflect on how care for our common home motivates people in different places, cultures, and professions to cooperate for myriad goods in common. The volume is particularly relevant for scholars working in religious studies and theology with an interest in ecology, the environment, and the Anthropocene.

In Reading Islam Fabio Vicini offers a journey within the intimate relations, reading practices, and forms of intellectual engagement that regulate Muslim life in two enclosed religious communities in Istanbul. Combining anthropological observation with textual and genealogical analysis, he illustrates how the modes of thought and social engagement promoted by these two communities are the outcome of complex intellectual entanglements with modern discourses about science, education, the self, and Muslims' place and responsibility in society. In this way, Reading Islam sheds light on the formation of new generations of faithful and socially active Muslims over the last thirty years and on their impact on the turn of Turkey from an assertive secularist Republic to an Islamic-oriented form of governance.

In attesa di pubblicare i risultati dello studio su LUIGI VICINI, il futuro Padre Agostino da Montefeltro, è questa una sintesi delle ricerche effettuate negli archivi sulla sua giovinezza prima del ritiro alla Verna. Relazione tenuta a Pisa il 22 ottobre 2016, Convegno su Padre Agostino da Montefeltro. Chi ha raccontato il paese dove è nato p. Agostino guardando la Sant'Agata del '900 e anche in parte di oggi, fa fatica a immaginare il paese reale in cui ha vissuto fino ai 30 anni Luigi Vicini. La leggenda che lo accompagna lo ha fatto diventare un personaggio senza tempo né luogo reale se al tempo del suo massimo successo oratorio, perfino un giornale cattolico della vicina Cesena dubitava che il famoso frate fosse di Sant'Agata: "di cui dicono nativo ed oriundo padre Agostino". I biografi di Padre Agostino hanno in parte sorvolato o affrontato superficialmente il tema del giovane chierico e sacerdote. Giovane si fa per dire: Luigi Vicini entra nel convento francescano all'età di 31 anni. "Fiochi erano stati gli echi destati negli animi dei Feretrani dagli eventi del tempestoso biennio 1859-60. Ma alla condanna (da parte del vescovo Alberani e di buona parte del clero) delle aspirazioni che animavano non piccola parte del popolo italiano, uno almeno fra i tanti non se la sentiva di esprimere il suo consenso, Luigi Vicini: dava un giudizio ben diverso delle guerre che il popolo italiano aveva combattute, o s'accingeva a combattere". Ciò che ha bloccato i biografi dall'approfondire la formazione religiosa e culturale di Luigi Vicini sono state poi le vicende del 1868, quella caduta di cui p. Agostino non ha mai nascosto la gravità.

Tutti stiamo tirando le somme del lockdown e l'attenzione è focalizzata principalmente su temi economici e di salute, trascurando l'aspetto legato alle emozioni e alla socialità. Rapporti e i sentimenti nei mesi di isolamento sociale hanno inequivocabilmente subito una profonda modifica: alcuni possono aver trovato vantaggio nel passare molto tempo con la propria famiglia o avere del tempo in più da dedicare agli amici, anche solo per telefono; altri invece potrebbero aver avuto la prova definitiva della fine di un rapporto, che non ha retto alla quotidianità e alla convivenza. Alcuni non potranno riabbracciare più un loro affetto perché deceduto durante il lockdown. Come fare per tornare alla normalità se non si è avuta la possibilità di elaborare il lutto e concedere a se stessi la catarsi del dolore? Come si vive fingendo che tutto sia come prima, ma con un fantasma accanto? Molti però sono fortunati, non hanno perso nessuno e possono vedere tutte le persone che amano. Ci chiediamo se sarà ancora possibile specchiarsi e ritrovarci nei volti dei nostri cari, ora oscurati dalle mascherine. Nonostante l'iper-connessione ognuno di noi ha maturato nuovi pensieri e idee, nella sua solitudine e potrebbe ritrovarsi ad avere opinioni opposte agli amici di sempre: riusciremo ad andare oltre la divergenza di opinioni in nome dei sentimenti, a condividere il nostro vissuto profondo e a ritrovarci con noi stessi e con gli altri? Ora che ci si può riavvicinare realmente alle persone emerge anche la paura più inammissibile, non quella verso gli sconosciuti che si incontrano quotidianamente, ma verso i propri cari, che si possono rivedere e contagiare, ma che a loro volta potrebbero essere un pericolo per noi. Avere paura delle persone che si amano è la più recondita delle paure, sarebbe come avere paura di una parte di se stessi, di ciò che si ama, è come sentirsi strattonati avanti e indietro, con il cuore che si avvicina ma con la testa che indietreggia. Siamo, senza dubbio, vicini e lontani. La distanza sociale. Roma: vicini da lontano

In questa commedia nera densa di umorismo, il protagonista Michele Garapali lavora per una compagnia di assicurazioni e il suo compito, che unisce sensibilità e statistica, consiste nell'individuare i potenziali suicidi tra chi richiede una polizza sulla vita. Arriva il giorno in cui è lui a decidere di ammazzarsi, ma farlo da solo gli sembra impossibile. Forse nel suo palazzo c'è qualcuno che potrebbe fare al caso suo, perciò quale miglior occasione per mettere a frutto la sua lunga esperienza? Nello stabile di via Brioschi tutti mentono per coprire rinunce, vergogna e mediocrità, ma non sanno che l'inquilino del quinto piano ha bisogno delle loro bugie per realizzare il proprio macabro progetto; né immaginano, quando decidono di affidarsi a lui per una polizza condominiale, che questa decisione farà scoperchiare le menzogne con cui hanno cercato sinora di rimanere a galla. Fino all'ennesima fandonia di gruppo, con cui riusciranno a dimostrare che la verità, in fondo, è sopravvalutata.

Using popular literature as a window on Italian society and its values, Lynn Gunzberg explores the representation of Jews in novels and poetry written by non-Jews from the beginning of the Risorgimento in the early 1800s to the enactment of the Fascist racial laws in 1938. She shows how the literature of that period contradicts the popular belief that anti-Semitism simply did not exist in Italy until late in the Fascist period. Accelerated partial breast irradiation (APBI) is being rapidly introduced into the clinical management of early breast cancer. APBI, in fact, encompasses a number of different techniques and approaches that include brachytherapy, intraoperative, and external beam techniques. There is currently no single source that describes these techniques and their clinical implementation. This text is a concise handbook designed to assist the clinician in the implementation of APBI. This includes a review of the principles that underlie APBI, a practical and detailed description of each technique for APBI, a review of current clinical results of APBI, and a review of the incidence and management of treatment related complications.

This book is a major reevaluation of the traditional view of early Germanic kinship structure and the large body of evidence from Antiquity and the early Middle Ages which has long been thought to support its major assumptions. The book is about kinship, but also, directly and indirectly, about other aspects of the period: law, association and social organization, family institutions and the barbarian and Roman heritage of the early Middle Ages. It is its principal aim that from a re-examination of kinship will come a greater understanding of some of the central documents of barbarian social and legal history.
